The year of enrolment was way back in 2013 and the course chosen was Executive Masters of Business Administration. The course was very interesting and exposed me to fields which for me were of little knowledge such as Marketing, Marketing procedures, Management, Management skills, Managerial tools and techniques, financial aspects. The course was held on yearly bases and was in all 2 years with each year divided with two (2) semesters.

Subjects followed during the first three semesters were:

- Managerial Accounting and Finance
- E Business and Management Information Systems
- Operations Management
- Behaviour in Organisations
- Research Methods for Business
- Marketing Management
- Entrepreneurship and Innovation
- Managing Strategy
- Project Management

In the second year last semester was left to our discretion to choose our field of specialization and I have chosen to opt for marketing in service delivery experience to customers.

Electives followed were:

- Supply chain and integration
- Service excellence
- Decision Making and Risk Analysis

The course also obliged us to submit a dissertation. My dissertation was on Characterization and policy review of street lighting operations in Malta. The research project seeks to provide a characterization of the current street lighting operations in Malta, an essential public service. The methodology adopted is two-pronged whereby quantitative and qualitative approaches are adopted. Subsequently the outcomes provide the basis of a holistic policy review of street lighting operations in Malta.

The course held gave me skills and knowhow, knowledge to handle different situations related in management of goods, allocating personnel to different roles in daily administration while planning in short and long term prospective regarding challenges faced during work, HR skills.

In my working place this course helped me a lot because it had given me a much clear idea and vision of how to tackle personnel, their needs and the way forward in order to increase the work flow in much more effective manner. It helped me also in my communication skills and ways how to tackle personnel and the public in general.

Eventually this will help in the advancement of my carrier in my work place, because is the stepping stone to eventually espier to get a position in top management within the company, I work in.
Yet again the course helped me to get more and think more in a structured way to take a better decision and evaluating decision taking judgments, thus avoiding pitfalls and mitigate risk in decision making process analysis, to ensure success.

The work disclosed in this publication is partially funded by the Master it! Scholarship scheme (Malta). This Scholarship is part-financed by the European Union - European Social Fund (ESF) under Operational Program II – Cohesian Policy 2007 – 2013, “Empowering People for More Jobs and a Better Quality of Life.”